Supporting Coursework

Supporting courses are intended to broaden and support your experience in your core discipline of economics. The courses you select should follow the guidelines noted below. Once you select your supporting courses, you should then come to 101 DHS and complete a Major Plan of Study form. This should be done by the end of your fifth semester.

Supporting Coursework Guidelines
- Choose at maximum TWO of the disciplines listed below and choose classes from those disciplines
- Supporting coursework must consist of at least 18 hours
- At least 12 hours of supporting coursework must be 200 level or above
- No course cross-listed as an economics course may be used, nor can any stats courses counting toward the degree be used, nor can courses used to fulfill the Comp I requirement or the language requirement be used
- No independent studies or undergraduate seminars may be used for supporting coursework.
- All courses used for supporting coursework must be taken for a grade.
